Synthesis and analysis are the two essential approaches to gain Total Knowledge. Although synthesis and analysis may appear to be contradictory, since one is converging and the other diverging, both are required to gain Total Knowledge. In the study of every discipline at Maharishi Central University, the whole range of each discipline collapses down to one field of Total Knowledge—the Unified Field of all the Laws of Nature—and from there expands again in an automatic, sequential manner to the specific, diversified aspects of knowledge of that discipline. In every lesson, students at Maharishi Central University thereby discover that the knowledge of the lesson has its foundation in the field of Total Knowledge, the Unified Field, at the basis of all diversity.

This system of education is expressed in Vedic terminology as: अन्वयव्यतिरेकाभ्यां निष्प्रपञ्चं प्रपञ्चयते ।
Anvaya vyati rekābhyāṁ nishprapanchaṁ prapanchyate —'Through analysis and synthesis Total Knowledge is unfolded (in one single awareness).'

The principle of study through analysis and synthesis unfolds the same field of Total Knowledge in each of the 12 faculties of Maharishi Central University. This fulfils the goal of the University to impart Total Knowledge to every student while he is studying his chosen subject. Every student will be the knower of Total Knowledge, capable of handling any action successfully.

'The value of Total Knowledge cannot be overestimated, because the unfoldment of infinite creativity through Total Knowledge is the basis to fulfil all desires and realise all possibilities in daily life, irrespective of any specific choice of discipline by the student. This is the one speciality which makes this University unique in the world, fulfilling the goal indicated by the word: "uni"-"versity".

'We give homage to those scholars who, thousands of years ago, floated the concept "uni"-"versity", and we feel proud to offer fulfilment to their aspirations by actualizing the reality of "uni"-"versity". We feel really satisfied in fulfilling the grand goal of university education elucidated by our predecessors thousands of years ago, who had conceived of Total Knowledge for every student.

'It has taken these many centuries, but the target of education that they had conceived is now fully realised, and today, when we are offering practically the fulfilment of the grand goal of university education, we are expressing a homage to those scholars who first conceived "uni"-"versity" education.'
